registerer of deeds are elected every four years, starting in 1962. However, if you are a county that has over 200,000 population, your registerer of deeds and county clerk is elected in 1964 and every year...every four years thereafter. This bill that I'm bringing you is a bill that affects Lancaster County only. And all it does is change the population requirement to 400,000 rather than 200,000 so that Lancaster County can continue electing a county clerk and the registerer of deeds every four years, as it has been doing. If we do not change the language in the statute, then these two county offices will have to be up for election next...next time, in '94, and then in two years again they will have to be up for election again. So the Lancaster County Election Commissioner and the county itself has asked that we simply change this. It will affect only Lancaster County, it will make the population requirement 400,000 rather than 200,000. And, with that, I would be happy to answer any questions that you might have.
